All drivers must ensure a stable connection throughout the entire event for especially their in-game connection as well as the audio feed / video stream connection. The audio feed / video stream may not at any time impair the in-game connection performance. Drivers who suffer from connection issues or are already aware of any issues before the respective events must reach out to the director of competition to resolve said issues immediately.

Unavailability or insufficient availability of the audio feed / video stream or any kind of connection issues in either the in game or the audio feed / video stream connection may lead to a penalty up to the disqualification from the event or series. Sufficient availability is defined at the sole discretion of the series organization.

Drivers must ensure availability for interviews by the official broadcast crew, commentators, directors, or other series personnel.

Drivers may request to stream their own point-of-view by consulting the broadcast director. They must make sure that the official broadcast requirements are met first. Official series broadcast elements and regulations take priority in any case.

Requests must be made in writing to the broadcast director. In any case of a point-of-view stream the streamer must provide a report of viewership and detailed statistics of their broadcast. Details on how to join the video call and audio feed will be shared with the drivers prior to each race in the drivers briefing.

1.7.1 VIDEO REGULATIONS

All drivers are required to be connected to a specified video streaming conference call (e.g. "Zoom"). Drivers are mandated to join at 17:00 for a connection test each round. They must be available for the entire event from 18:00 until 21:00 or until the show has finished and no more media enquiries are made. While no regulations are in place for the specific video hardware used, drivers must be utilizing either their PC, a mobile device or other streaming device / camera setup of their choosing offering at least HD quality.

During all sessions, starting with the free practice and leading up to the finish of the main race, at least the drivers face, hands and steering wheel must be clearly visible in one scene (not cropped, edited, or cut together from multiple sources). Should a driver be using a virtual reality headset, then they must contact the series administration ahead of their first event.

All participants will be muted in the video streaming call and may receive a request to unmute their microphone for interviews. You should always be prepared for an interview if you are in the top 3 of qualifying, sprint or main race. Please frame your video nicely, in landscape and make sure you are clearly visible.

1.7.2 AUDIO REGULATIONS

In any case of a broadcast / stream the streamer must provide a report of viewership and detailed statistics of their broadcast. Furthermore a clear reference to the official series broadcast(s) must be given.

1.9 OFFICIATING PROCESS

The officiating will be done in a dedicated process and is not to be confused with the default iRacing protest system used in the FIA F4 Regional Tour. Any driver participating in the race has the right to submit a protest for any incident or action during the event. The protest must be submitted in time using the protest sheet (see 3.2). After the protest deadline has passed, all incidents submitted will be reviewed and judged upon by the stewards. Additionally, incidents or other actions may also be reviewed independently by the race director or stewards, even without an explicit protest. Once all incidents have been reviewed, a full event review containing the respective rulings and penalties will be published. Subsequently, drivers penalised have the option to appeal the decision by responding and adding information from their point of view as well as providing material of their own, such as screenshots or replays. These appeals will be reviewed and ultimately the event review will be finalized.

1.9.1 PROTESTS

A protest must be made via email to the director of competition using the protest sheet or is otherwise inadmissible. It must contain a precise description of the incident and a sufficient replay snippet as well as at least the following information:

- Subject of the incident (such as the respective event, session, etc.)
- Lap / timecode or corner(s) / part(s) of the track if applicable
- Drivers involved

- Description from own point of view
- Replay of the incident in question (archived and attached to the email or otherwise uploaded), sufficiently cut to the front, and back showcasing the full incident and if applicable the run up to / run down from it

The protest will be checked for admissibility upon receipt and will be reviewed after the protest deadline has passed. Frivolous protests will be ignored. Should a driver file such protests, a warning or penalty may be considered.

1.9.1.1 PROTEST DEADLINE

The protest deadline is set to Saturday, 23:59, the day of the respective event. Protests not submitted in time are inadmissible.

1.9.2 EVENT REVIEW PUBLISHING DATE

The event review contains all protests and/or other incidents, their rulings and, if applicable, their penalties. The target publishing time for the event review is set to Monday, 23:59, two days after the event. The exact time may vary depending on the workload created by submitted protests.

1.9.3 APPEALS

If a party involved in an incident reviewed by the stewards find the decision to be grossly erroneous, malformed, administratively or otherwise incorrect, or can provide new evidence they may file an appeal. They are encouraged to also provide new information from their point of view as well as material of their own, such as screenshots or replays. An appeal can be made once per incident via email to the director of competition using the protest sheet and must reference the respective incident or is otherwise inadmissible.

The appeal will be checked for admissibility upon receipt and will be reviewed as soon as possible. Frivolous appeals will be ignored. Should a driver file such an appeal, a warning or penalty may be considered.

1.9.3.1 APPEAL DEADLINE

The appeal deadline is set to 24 hours after the publishing date of the event review. The exact publishing time and date is set in the event review and will be used as the reference for the appeals deadline. Should it not be set, the deadline is set to 24 hours after the event review has been transmitted to the drivers, referencing the timestamp of the E-Mail or other form of message sent. Appeals not submitted in time are inadmissible.

1.9.4 FINALIZATION OF THE EVENT REVIEW

After the appeal deadline has passed and all appeals have been reviewed, the event review will be finalized. Once the event review has been finalized no further appeals are possible. The target publishing time of the final event review is set to Wednesday, 23:59, four days after the event. The exact time may vary depending on the workload created by submitted protests and appeals.

1.10 PENALTIES

Should drivers be found at fault in the event review by stewards' decision or have otherwise infringed rules or breached conduct guidelines, penalties may be assigned. Penalties can reach from a warning to points penalties, event disqualification, qualifying- or race exclusion, up to the series exclusion depending on the severity of the incident. There may also be no penalty applied for an accident. Examples include incidents caused in majority by latency, influenced in majority by network connection, or incidents that could not have been avoided by either driver. These incidents may be deemed a racing incident and thus are not subject to a penalty above a potential warning to either or both drivers.

iRacing Stewards have sole ownership of determining what is or is not worthy of a penalty.

No penalties, other than automatically applied penalties by the simulation itself are assigned during the live event, thus incidents from qualifying sessions or intermediate sessions may have no immediate effect on the following (race) sessions. Incidents that are considered to have changed the course of the event in a large(r) amount, for example among the inverted grid positions, may result in an adapted penalty. Repeat offenders may also receive adapted penalties, should they have been warned or penalized for the same or a similar type of offence before.

1.10.1 WARNING

Assigned for negligible / very light incidents or on-/off track behavior that would not necessarily warrant a penalty. May also be assigned for incidents that are caused in majority by latency, influenced in majority by network connection, or incidents that could not have been avoided by either driver. Existing warnings may be considered in the application of penalties.

1.10.2 POINTS PENALTIES

Points Penalties may be assigned for any incident depending on incident severity. They will be applied by deducting the respective number of points from the drivers' season points total.

Points penalties can be assigned for any type of incident depending on infringement severity in the steps of 5, 10, 15 or 25 points penalties.

In case of a points penalty, the points of the driver(s) will be adjusted post-event. Points penalties cannot be dropped.

1.10.3 DISQUALIFICATION

Drivers may be disqualified for excessive infringements, actions detrimental to the series, repeatedly assigned severe penalties, as well as for intentionally causing an incident. A disqualification applies to all event sessions, therefore in case of a disqualification all points for the driver in question will be nulled for the respective event. The points awarded by the rest of the field will not be adjusted.

1.10.4 QUALIFYING EXCLUSION FOR FUTURE ROUND(S)

An exclusion from one or multiple qualifying sessions is a penalty that reaches beyond regular points penalties or addresses further detrimental behavior. It may be applied separately or in addition to other penalties. In case of a qualifying exclusion, the driver in question may not leave the pits during the qualifying session. Should the driver leave the pits during the qualifying session, he will be disqualified for the event in question. Further penalties up to the series exclusion may apply.

1.10.5 EVENT EXCLUSION FOR FUTURE ROUND(S)

An exclusion from one or multiple events may be applied for actions so detrimental that warrant the exclusion of a driver. In case of an even exclusion, the driver in question may not connect to the event session for the respective event at all. Should he attend any session during the event in question, further penalties up to the series exclusion may apply.

1.10.6 SERIES EXCLUSION

Drivers may be excluded from the series for (repeatedly) infringing behavioral guidelines or for detrimental actions on- or off-track. The exclusion from the series is permanent and will lead to the driver forfeiting their license as well as null all their points. The series exclusion may extend to future seasons and represents the ultimate penalty.

1.10.7 INCIDENT LIMIT

The incident limit for all races will be set at 17 incidents for both the sprint- and main race sessions. Upon reaching or when surpassing 17 incidents, the driver in question will receive an automatic drive-through penalty.

Upon reaching or when surpassing 25 incidents in the sprint- or main race, the driver in question will receive an automatic disqualification from the race in question

1.10.8 ADDITION DRIVER CONDUCT PENALTIES

All drivers are held to the highest standards, both on- and off-track and are expected to represent the series, its partners, and sponsors in a positive fashion.

Should a driver quit a session / event (for example by using ALT+F4 or prematurely quitting a race after incidents), or should a driver quit the audio / video conference calls prematurely, otherwise behave in an unprofessional manor or in a way that can be considered an infringement against the iRacing.com Sporting Code and thus infringe the spirit of the series, he may be penalized with one of the penalties mentioned above, up to the series exclusion.

1.10.9 DRIVER ATTENDANCE

Driver attendance for the season is presumed for all drivers.

Drivers may miss a maximum of 1 round of the FIA F4 eSports Global Championship season. If a driver misses more than 1 round, he loses his eligibility to qualify for the attached FIA F4 eSports Global Championship season. iRacing reserves the right to waive this rule. If a driver is unable to attend the series or is unable to attend in the required number of races, he may voluntarily forfeit his license prior to admission date. In this case, no penalty (as described above) is assigned.

1.11 LIVERY REGULATIONS

All drivers are encouraged to use custom liveries representing their teams, sponsors, and partners in compliance with the iRacing rules. The base vehicle template is available for download through the iRacing Paint Shop. For this series specifically, mandatory livery additions are made. They are provided as separate files or layers and may include different options (e.g. light / dark) to ensure readability of all features. These files or layers may not be altered in any way (size, position, coloring, etc.) and must remain on the top layer of the livery. Furthermore the areas defined as restricted areas may not be used by the participants and are reserved exclusively for use by the series organization. All mandatory features and restricted areas are closer described in Livery Visualization 3.1. No usage of the FIA or F4 name or logo in any way, other than what is already watermarked on the car. All related branding must be coordinated and explicitly allowed by iRacing directly and is otherwise forbidden. The driver - respectively the team - submitting a livery must reserve all rights.

1.11.1 COLOR DIFFERENTIATION / DRIVER DISTINCTION AREAS

To distinguish drivers in a team of size >1 there are distinction areas available on the vehicle that must be used. The following areas are defined as driver distinction areas:

- Mirrors L/R
- Front bumper area surrounding the central air intake
- Rear bumper area above and surrounding the exhaust and diffuser

These areas must be painted via a unicolor / monochrome fill and must obey the following rules:

- If unicolor: > 50% brightness and 50% saturation
- If monochrome: > 50% brightness with 0% saturation

Drivers in a team must be using colors that allow for sufficient distinction. For example red, yellow, green, and blue for a team of four drivers. It is up to the series administration to define on a case-by-case basis if sufficient distinction is made.

1.11.2 ADDITIONAL LIVERY REGULATIONS

Should it be necessary to further distinguish select drivers, adaptations to the series template may be made, especially in regard to colors. These changes will be applied to the base livery submitted by the participants and do not require any additional input from the drivers or teams.

1.11.3 MEDIA / LIVERY SUBMISSION

Base liveries, suit, helmet designs, additional livery information, driver and team media must be submitted via a form to the broadcast director. The link to the form submission can be found on Discord.

For the first round of the season the submission deadline is set to TBD.

The rolling livery submission deadline for round 2 onward is set to Sunday before each race, 23:59 UTC. For example, the deadline for round 2 is set to TBD.
